

Security in its finest form

HARTMANN TRESORE Exclusive Line

A safe, first and foremost, is there to provide security. A safe is there to protect and prevent unauthorized access to certificates and documents, financial and business documents and jewellery, precious collections and objects of personal value. We chanced upon a gem in the market that allows you to sleep easy knowing that your valuables are safe while you are at home or away.

Safes were once steel grey and tucked away in cellar rooms. Well, that's what the cliché would like to have us believe... The truth is that a safe is actually much, much more: The Exclusive Line by HARTMANN TRESORE shows you how.

This product line includes safes made in Germany that have been designed and built to exclusively meet the needs and desires of their buyers – this encompasses paintwork, handles and fittings and the interior design through to the smallest of details such as hinge caps. Basically it gives you all the works that includes functionality but looks great in your home.

And it definitely is all of these details that create a real gem of a safe that in itself reflects the style and personality of its buyer, and in addition is a real eye-catcher, integrating easily into the ambience of any home or office.

These customized safes are practical, too, because your most precious objects – your dearest piece of jewellery or your favourite watch, or even important documents are safe and at hand all of the time but organised according to your taste and preference.

There are virtually no bounds when designing the exterior and interior of such a safe. HARTMANN safe specialists were up for the challenge when a fashion-conscious young woman briefed them to create her 'dream safe', painted in frosted pink with brushed platinum handles and an oak wood interior.

The drawers were lined with velvet and fitted with ring holders and watch pillows all in the same colour as exterior. Interior LED lighting ensured that her precious items were presented from their best side.

Another buyer, a passionate watch collector, asked for his high-gloss finish safe to be equipped with gold-plated handles, fittings and locking bolts. The interior was furnished in walnut and included watch winders for all his watches.

Other fine examples: A mother-of-pearl high-gloss finish safe furnished with dark macassar ebony filigree glass shelving, or a particularly racy model in original Lamborghini orange with gold-plated handles and fittings and a walnut interior, or a fortified cabinet in ultra marine blue furnished with drawers and shelving made of contrasting Maplewood.

Exclusive Line safes are perfect for individualists who would like to bring in their creativity during the design process of their customized safe, or who have special requirements for the interior or exterior of their safe that go beyond what the standard models offer. It boils down to your taste, your needs, your needs and most of all security.

And if you don't know what your safe should and could look like, let the HARTMANN Middle East specialists sit down with you to work hand in hand to develop your 'dream safe'. They can custom make it based on brainstorming your style and your practicality.

If it's an artist you want your safe be designed by, then select your favourite motif and have it airbrushed onto the safe. Any motif goes. In fact, one customer even had a portrait of their partner 'eternalized' onto their safe!

HARTMANN TRESORE and the famous artist Jean Tannous have also had the pleasure of cooperating in the past, and together created very unique safes.

And regardless of the design or which interior you opt for, security is one thing a HARTMANN customer never has to worry about. Exclusive Line safes are quality safes from Germany that are tested according to European standards and certified by independent certification institutes.

Naturally this kind of security comes with a lot of tried and tested checks and authenticity. All safes have a certified and proven resistance grade. If so wished for, safes can come equipped with burglar alarm components for integration into existing security formats.

If you are in need of a safe or have doubts about the security of your current safe, the new HARTMANN TRESORE Exclusive Line catalogue presents an overall impression of all the possibilities. It includes a selection of specially customized safes. Order your copy by calling +971 4 369 7051.
